The program begins on Saturday, March 1 in Colombo, Sri Lanka. Most flight options from both the US East and West coasts will require two calendar days to travel to Colombo. Consequently, guests should plan to depart on February 27 to ensure arrival on March 1.

There are some options out of Boston, NYC, and Los Angeles that will get guests to Colombo in one day, but travel from other major cities in the US will require two days.

SATURDAY, MARCH 1 ARRIVE COLOMBO, SRI LANKA

Gather this evening with your Harvard Alumni Study Leader and fellow alumni and friends for a welcome cocktail reception.

TUESDAY, MARCH 4

TRINCOMALEE

Trincomalee, a large port in the northeastern of Sri Lanka, is your gateway to the UNESCO World Heritage site of Sigiriya, the ruins of a palace built atop an enormous rock outcropping, surrounded by a network of gardens and reservoirs.

Your guided tour of this stunning monument includes an opportunity to view the 21 rock paintings of singers and dancers that decorate the walls—frescoes that remind many visitors of the Ajanta Caves of India.

Following a relaxing lunch at a nearby restaurant, return to the ship to continue your voyage around the island.

Overnight on Le Lapérouse (B, L, D)

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 5

HAMBANTOTA

From Hambantota on Sri Lanka's southeastern coast, travel to the Elephant Transit Home, a facility supported by the Born Free Foundation that rescues and rehabilitates orphaned elephants with the aim of returning them to the wild.

GALLE

Colonized by both the Portuguese and the Dutch, Galle was long a center of the spice trade and the country's most important port.

During your time here, explore the old town and its fortifications, now a UNESCO World Heritage site, and travel to nearby Koggala, a region of rich biodiversity where you will see local fishermen standing atop stilts to ply their trade. Also, visit a working tea plantation.

Overnight on Le Lapérouse (B, L, D)

AT SEA

Overnight on Le Lapérouse (B, L, D)

SAT, MAR 8–SUN, MAR 9

Spend two full days on the Malabar coast, exploring the history and culture of Cochin, the oldest European settlement in India. Vasco da Gama established a trading station here in 1502, making the city a crucial port for the export of pepper, cardamom, clove, and cinnamon. When the Dutch seized control in the late 17th century, Cochin's prosperity only grew. The results of the wealth produced by the spice trade are evident throughout the old town of Fort Cochin—the Portuguese Church of St. Francis, the Dutch Mattancherry Palace, and the Paradesi Synagogue, the oldest synagogue in India.

In addition to the colonial legacy, you will enjoy a boat ride along canals lined with Chinese fishing nets, a visit to Greenix Village for a private performance of traditional Kathakali dance, and the opportunity to sample local cuisine.

Overnight on Le Lapérouse (B, L, D)

Visit Basilica Bom Jesus, housing the tomb of St. Francis Xavier. St. Catherine Cathedral, larger than any church in the Portuguese homeland; the Church of St. Cajetan, modeled
